ARRESTED WHILE YET INTOXICATED

August Gahimer Taken Into Custody by Sheriff at His Home Near Manilla.

WAS IN A BEASTLY CONDITION

Members of His Family Feared Him—No Arrests From Grand Jury Indictments.

On an affidavit, sworn out by Wallace Morgan, deputy prosecutor, August Gahimer, living a short distance southwest of Manilla, was arrested by Sheriff Clata Bebout, at his home this morning for public intoxication. The charge says specifically that Gahimer has been drunk on the streets of Manilla several different times and that his condition has been obnoxious. Gahimer was in a beastly state of intoxication when arrested by the officers this morning, and was taken directly to the jail, where he will probably be arraigned before Judge Sparks tomorrow.

It is said that Gahimer has been a menace to the neighborhood in which he lived for several months. It is rumored over the vicinity in which he lived that he would become intoxicated and remain so for two or three weeks, never being in his right state of mind during that time. The officers say that members of his family were afraid of him and that they feared that he would do them bodily harm.

Everything was very quiet about the court house today, even though the grand jury made its return last night after a week's session. No arrests were made although it is common rumor that several indictments were returned. It is promised that several of the persons against whom indictments have been made, will be compelled to answer to a charge of some nature tomorrow.

HER HUSBAND ABANDONED HER

LEFT HER IN THE SOUTHLAND

Mrs. Hypatia Pyle filed suit in the Rush circuit court today against her husband, Joe Pyle, for a divorce. She charges, among numerous other things, cruel and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff avers that her husband has done many things for which she asks that the marriage bonds be declared broken. She alleges that her husband took her to a southern State and there completely abandoned her, so that she was compelled to send home for money to get back to Rush county. Mrs. Pyle was formerly Miss Hypatia Ochiltree, daughter of Mrs. Milton Ochiltree, who now lives in Glenwood. She was married to Mr. Pyle here a few years ago.

AGREE TO ASK FOR APPROPRIATION

Commissioners Comply With Request of Merchants and Will Petition County Council For $660.

FOR LIGHTS AROUND SQUARE

More than usual interest was taken by the members of the local Merchants' Association who met with the county commissioners this afternoon at one-thirty o'clock. The merchants petitioned the commissioners to ask the county council, which will meet in special session tomorrow, to appropriate six hundred and sixty dollars with which to purchase decorative street lights to be placed around the court house square. Without any hesitation whatever the commissioners agreed to comply with the request of the merchants.

The merchants are requested to wait on the council tomorrow afternoon at one-thirty o'clock, when it is thought the appropriation will be made. About forty business men attended the meeting today.

EASTERN STAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Martha Poe Chapter No. 143 O. E. S. will be held tonight. A good attendance is desired.

Ships were first "copper bottomed" in 1837.

TO GO BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Fifteen Hundred Dollars Has Been Raised to Pay For New Decorative Sidewalk Lights.

TO PETITION CITY FOR PART

Business Men in Meeting Decide to Ask County For Appropriation For Improvement.

The business men will go before the city council tonight with a perfect score. They can report that they have raised fifteen hundred dollars to buy decorative sidewalk lights in the down town district and ask the council to do their part, install them and furnish the electricity for lighting them. At the called meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association last night, the attorney for the Association, Will C. McColgin, was instructed to draw up a contract to be made between the council and the Association and to also draw up a petition to be presented to the council at their regular meeting tonight. The business men will attend the council meeting in a body this evening. The merchants also expect to go before the county council tomorrow to ask for an appropriation to pay for the lights around the court house.

The called meeting of the Merchants' Association was the most successful one in the point of number and also of things accomplished in recent weeks. About forty business men attended and all took a lively interest in the proceedings, nearly every merchant present, voicing a sentiment on all of the questions. The meeting heard a report from the investigating committee which has been endeavoring to get quotations from all over the United States on steel and iron posts to be used for lights. The committee had a rather extensive report to make, giving quotations from many firms. They have one post which can be bought for much less money than any which have yet been found. It is not known as to the durability of the post, but it is certain that it can be purchased for about half as much money as any which the committee has been able to find so far.

During the course of the discussion, it was suggested that home industry might be patronized. The ever present and fast growing desire to spend local money at home has grown to such an extent that all of the merchants are imbued with the idea. The suggestion was thought a good one, so good in fact that every member of the association agreed that it was the proper plan to follow. Action along that line was taken immediately and a committee, Earl Payne, Will Bliss and Bert Mullin, was appointed to make an investigation, to learn whether or not the posts could be made by a local firm. The Scott-Madden foundry was suggested as a possibility.

The report of the committee which was appointed to raise the money to pay for the lights, was a revelation to the meeting. They reported that they had been able to get fifteen hundred dollars in subscriptions, the largest from any one merchant being twenty-five dollars. The chairman of the committee said that there were still several business men whom he had not visited yet and whom he expected would agree to assist in paying for the improvement.

The carnival question which has been under consideration for the past few meetings, was disposed of last night, when it was finally decided to give up the idea for the present. It was generally believed that the undertaking would be too hazardous at

OPENS CAMPAIGN IN GOOD SPEECH

Congressman Barnard Reviews Administration Briefly and Touches on Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill.

IS GREETED BY GOOD CROWD

Discusses Railroad Rate Bill and Pledges Support of Dollar-a-Day Pension Law.

Before an audience that was much larger than expected at the opening of the Republican campaign in Rush county, Congressman W. O. Barnard, who is seeking re-election on the Republican ticket from this district, expounded Republican doctrines in the Knights of Pythias building last evening. The crowd was a revelation to the county organization, as it was feared that the audience would be small, as is always the case in the first political meetings of the campaign. The audience is estimated to be twice as large as the one which gathered for the opening of the presidential campaign two years ago.

As this is what is commonly termed an "off year," when neither the governor nor the President is chosen, it has always been the experience of politicians that little interest is taken in political questions. The farmers all over the county are busy with their fall work, due to the fact that the weather conditions have been very favorable and for that reason not over one dozen tillers of the soil graced the meeting with their presence. The city band gave a concert on the street corner and in the hall before the meeting. Judge Barnard was introduced by Quincy Thomas.

It did not take Congressman Barnard long to delve down deep into his subject, making few preliminary remarks. He discussed the tariff question at length, devoting much of his time to the Payne-Aldrich bill, which was passed at the special session of congress, the first one which the representative from this district ever attended. He said that he voted for the bill, not because he believed it was perfect, but because he believed it fulfilled the party pledge to revise the tariff downward. The representative declared that the congress convened in obedience to the call of the president, who issued the call to act as the Republicans promised to do in the campaign. Judge Barnard asserted the new bill was a great improvement over the Dingley law as the duty on over four hundred items was lowered, while it was raised on a very few articles, including pineapple and lemons, as the only necessity, which can be found on the ordinary man's table, on which the duty was raised. He recited several items on which the duty was lowered, pork and beef being among the number. Judge Barnard declared that the duty was raised only on such articles as high grades of silks, diamonds and a few of the higher grades of cotton, the duty on woollens remaining the same. The Congressman said that there were schedules on which he did not agree, but that the committee, which conducted the investigation of the cost of production, at home and abroad spent many months in the work and he believed that they had made the best report possible under the conditions and one which fulfilled the party pledges.

Judge Barnard devoted a portion of his speech to the railroad rate bill. He believes that it is one of the greatest achievements that any congress ever made, in that it protects the shipper from the railroad and in turn gives the railroad a right in that all matters where a discussion is involved will be given a fair hearing before an inter-state commission. The representative declared that the bill would stop the railroad from making a distinction between the big shipper and the little shipper and long-haul man and the short-haul man.

Congressman Barnard closed his speech with a short talk to the old soldiers. He asked them who had ever accomplished anything in the way of legislation of any class or description, other than the Republican party. The congressman asserted that he was highly in favor of a dollar-a-day pension law and that he would vote for it, when the time came. Judge Barnard reviewed what the administration had done for the old soldier and made reference to a false report that had been started by the Democratic members of the lower house from Indiana, in regard to his stand on the pension question.

Green takes spells, it is said, and hikes out for parts unknown, no one being able to guess where he is until he himself turns up to tell them. The couple will live at Waldron, where Green is a telegraph operator.

He will be on the road almost continually, when he is not delivering a speech. Mr. Watson went from here today to Champaign, Ill., where he will deliver a Republican speech this evening before a meeting, especially arranged for the students of Illinois University. He was to be entertained there at dinner this evening at the University club. ## IS SAFE FROM FROST'S BITE

Said That Even a Heavy One From Jack's Lips Would Not Hurt Corn.

IT WILL BE A BUMPER CROP

Weather Has Been Especially Favorable For Wheat Sowing, Which Has Been Started.

Farmers who are in the city say the corn crop is about out of danger from a killing frost and that should a heavy frost come it would not do much damage to the crop. A few more days will see it far enough that frost will not hurt it, and when this time comes the farmer will breathe a sigh of relief. A trip through a field reveals many ears that are well developed and which would not be injured by frost. There are some fields however, where some of the ears are still in the roasting ear stage, and these would get caught.

Farmers of the county are now busy with sowing wheat and within the next three weeks all of the wheat will be in the ground. Conditions are different now than three years ago, when the grain was sown in dust. Just now the ground is in excellent condition to receive the grain.

The weather has been favorable for the cultivation of the ground and but little time has been lost in plowing and preparing the ground. A few of the fields have been sown for several days, but the majority of the farmers will not complete the work until next week.

It is estimated that an unusually large acreage will be sown, as the crop proved generally valuable this year and the prospects are very encouraging for another big harvest, next season. Much attention has been given to the selection of seed, as it is realized that in order to get a large harvest the best seed possible must be obtained.

'BIG WEDNESDAY' COMES TOMORROW

Concerts and Free Moving Picture Shows Will be Program of Rushville's Bargain Day.

BIG CROWD IS EXPECTED NOW

"Big Wednesday" will be the order of things tomorrow, when it is expected that a monster crowd will visit Rushville to take advantage of her bargain day. In the light of the events today, since rain fell almost continually, it is believed that a much larger crowd than otherwise would have attended, will be present. The rain was so heavy that few of the farmers will be able to do any work for a few days and they will naturally take advantage of Rushville's bargain day. The city band will give concerts all day and in the evening. An additional attraction, which will be offered, is free moving picture shows. All of the amusement houses will be opened to Rushville visitors tomorrow, when good programs will be shown.

KERN'S "JOKER"

Labor Men Delve Into the Past and Unearth Record.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 4.—Governor Marshall, logical leader of Indiana Democrats, pulled off his own exclusive, though deferred, campaign opener in Indianapolis last night. The Marshall speech was significant in that the Democratic governor refrained from attacking Senator Beveridge. In this he showed a better wisdom than was displayed by John W. Kern at Evansville last Saturday night. Mr. Kern gave over most of his speech to an attack on Senator Beveridge. Mr. Kern is a free trader in theory, and a revenue-only man "in practice"—that is, he would be a revenue-only man if the people permitted him to "practice." Mr. Kern has said he is for immediate revision of the tariff to a revenue-only basis. Now he did not come out with this demand in his key-note. In fact, he evaded the revision proposition, and made much thunder on the Beveridge matter in order to keep the people from other issues.

In all his speech Mr. Kern did not attack Senator Beveridge as one who is "wrong." He merely tried to show that Beveridge has been a consistent protectionist. In other words, Mr. Kern made the issue between Kern free trade and low wages and low prices on one side and the Lincoln moderate protection for which Beveridge stands, on the other. Mr. Kern contends for a leveling down to the European standard of wages and living. Beveridge stands for the American standard of living, and for the betterment of that standard, as well as for the amelioration of labor conditions the world around.

The biggest mistake made by Kern was that in which he sought to disparage and belittle the record made by Senator Beveridge on behalf of labor men. Mr. Kern, through a circular recently issued by the Democratic state committee, made his own labor record an issue. Labor men had put out a strong circular showing the Beveridge record, and that record was greatly to the senator's credit. The Kern people, finding how labor men were tending, hastened to issue a booklet of their own, to show Kern's work on behalf of labor. They went further and attacked the Beveridge labor record. This is where they made a big blunder. Another foolish error in the same circular was that in which Mr. Kern, in an effort to take glory for himself, connected his name with the infamous "joker" in the Indiana employers' liability law, and by his own words condemned the name of Kern for all time, so far as labor men are concerned. It was in 1893. The bill was House Bill No. 270. Mr. Kern was appealed to the last day of the session to help labor men get the liability bill reported. Mr. Kern "appealed" to the judiciary committee for a report, and conferred with railroad attorneys on the matter.

The Kern circular goes on to say: "Mr. Kern called the legislative committee of the unions together, and after consultation it was agreed that it would be better to agree to 'the amendment' than to have no legislation at all." The labor men, as a result of Kern's counsel, agreed in writing to accept an amendment to their bill. The bill was reported as the railroad lawyers altered it, and Mr. Kern assisted very actively in rushing the thing into law. Now the Kern circular does not give the wording of the section or "amendment" which Mr. Kern "enacted" on behalf of labor men. But the text of the notorious section has been dug up by labor men, and here it is:

"Section 2. Neither an employee nor his legal representative shall be entitled under this act to any right of compensation or remedy against the corporation in any case where the injury results from obedience to an order which subjected the employee to palpable danger; or where the injury was caused by the incompetency of the co-employee and such incompetency was known to the employee injured; or such injured employee in the exercise of reasonable care might have discovered such incompetency; unless the employee so injured gave or caused to be given information thereof to the corporation or to some superior entrusted with the general superintendency of such co-employee, and such corporation failed or refused to discharge such incompetent employee within a reasonable time, or failed or refused within a reasonable time to investigate the alleged incompetency of the co-employee or superior and discharge him if found incompetent."

In short, Mr. Kern's boasted "Section 2," which he induced labor men to accept after his conference with other railroad attorneys, is a "joker" of the worst kind. As a "joker" Mr. Kern's cunning work ranks out in front.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a hollow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

FIFTY DROWNED IN WRECK AT SEA

The Boilers of Pacific Steam-er Explode.

SANK ALMOST IMMEDIATELY

So Rapidly Did the Chirique Go Down That Only a Portion of Her Passengers and Crew Were Able to Take to the Boats, and It is Believed That Fifty Persons Perished—Vessel Dispatched From Panama for Search.

Oct. 4.—Word has reached here of the sinking of the Pacific Steam Navigation company's ship Chirique with the probable loss of fifty of her passengers and crew. The disaster occurred in the vicinity of Point Farachine, which is about 100 miles distant from this place. Among those who are believed to have been lost are members of the rich Jirado family, who were on their way home from Europe. They live at Buena Ventura. The Chirique left Panama on Sept. 27, bound for the south and carrying about seventy persons including the crew. When the vessel failed to arrive at Buena Ventura a steamer was dispatched to search for her. The vessel has returned to port and the captain reported that he had been informed that a boat containing thirteen of the passengers and crew of the Chirique had arrived at Marachine. They told the port captain at that place that the boilers of the Chirique had exploded and that the ship had gone down almost immediately. They added that so far as they knew one other boatload, consisting of ten persons, had escaped from the sinking ship, but that no word had been received from them as yet. They were unable to say if any other persons had escaped the wreck.

The Perico was dispatched at full speed to the scene of the disaster and to look for any survivors that might still be afloat. Only the meager details of the accident have reached here up to this time.

BOLT IN NEW YORK STARTED BY YOUNG

Former President of Republican Club Rejects Roosevelt.

New York, Oct. 4.—Charles H. Young, president of the Republican club in 1907 and 1908, a model of party regularity since he entered politics in 1887, and a consistent supporter of President Taft and Governor Hughes, has resigned from the Republican club and announced his intention to support John A. Dix and the Democratic state ticket.

Mr. Young has made up his mind that if Henry L. Stimson is elected governor, Theodore Roosevelt will be nominated for president in 1912. "And if that man ever is president again," said Young, "We'll never get him out of the White House. He is the most dangerous man in the history of the republic, the gravest menace to liberty, the most alarming figure who has risen in the world of politics since Waterloo."

In a letter to President Seth Low of the Republican club, Mr. Young said it was painful to him to sever his connection with the club, but that he could not continue a member of the club without being a hypocrite. He said that he remains a Republican and that he will work two years hence for the re-election of Mr. Taft or for any other candidate of "equal balance."

It develops that there are many members of the club who feel as Mr. Young does, and that some of them are likely to come out for Dix in a few days. Seth Low and other peace-makers have been watching for a split in the club and have been using every influence to promote regularity, even if it goes against the grain. Some of the members who feel as Mr. Young feels, say that if he can bolt after twenty-nine years of regularity, there is no reason why they should not go on record against the new boss.

Mr. Young said that he had made up his mind to support the Democratic ticket after talking the situation over with many Republicans who are alarmed at Roosevelt's domination.

DEFERRED HEARING IN LORIMER CASE

Broderick's Lawyer Erected Barrier of Stipulations.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—State Senator John Broderick of Chicago, was called to the stand before the senatorial committee which is investigating the Lorimer election. Before he was asked a question his attorney, Thomas Duncan, announced conditions under which he was willing to have his client testify. The committee announced that it would postpone its final decision as to Broderick. The senators agreed that if Broderick were to go on the stand at all he should be interrogated in full and it was believed this was impossible under the stipulations made by Attorney Dawson.

This left the prosecution temporarily without witnesses and the defense was allowed to introduce its first witness. Attorney Haney called Attorney Dawson to the stand. Lee O'Neill Browne appeared on the scene of action, but he was not called to the stand for the same reasons that applied to the Broderick situation.

Leaned on His Gun.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 4.—John E. Madden's young son, Edward, went out in the field for a little sport with his gun and dogs. While waiting on the work of his dogs, he carelessly leaned over the muzzle of his gun on which he had laid the palm of his left hand. In some way he lost his balance and struck the trigger with his foot. The entire charge of birdshot went through his hand, crushing every bone.

Death List Reduced.

New York, Oct. 4.—Fourteen of the men of the battleship New Hampshire reported missing as a result of the capsizing of the ship's tender on Saturday night, have turned up. This reduces the death list to fifteen.

T. R. returned from Saratoga with throat trouble, which may have been caused by swallowing the platform.

The hobble skirt girl's outlines remind us of a mermaid, with her underpinning tapering down to the form of a tail.

The question in New York among parties is "How to get away with Billy Hearst's support in your pocket without getting caught with the goods on."

The New York Democrats name a millionaire for governor, and he can not possibly get by unless he can demonstrate half a dozen good callosities on his hands.

In the $95,000,000 gain in exports from the United States to Europe alone during the first eight months for 1910, manufacturers were strongly represented. The things made in this country gain ground steadily in European communities.

It appears that the Democratic State committee is fearful that the speeches of William Jennings Bryan will have a damaging influence to the Democratic candidates as that "peerless" leader is being assigned to the smallest, out-of-way towns in Indiana.

Many definitions of "insurgency" have been given, but the characterization of President Taft comes as a relief. In his talk in New York last Saturday evening he said: "A progressive Republican is one who recognizes existing and concrete evils and who is in favor of practical and definite steps to eradicate them." That lets us all in.

The Los Angeles dynamite outrage calls for the sternest measures to suppress lawlessness. That the Times office was compelled to convert its building into a veritable fortress for its protection, shows that the local authorities were lax in their duties—they were afraid of the unions. This is usually the case everywhere in labor troubles. The authorities don't wake up until several people have been killed and thousands of dollars of property destroyed. The day is dawning when the government itself must take a far more active part than it has ever done to suppress such lawlessness and anarchy by the sternest means in its power when in an incipient state.

In a speech of Governor Marshall to the Democrats of Indiana, delivered at Tomlinson's hall, Indianapolis last night, he advised his party to demand pledges from the candidates for the legislature to stick to their pledges on the senatorship. This may be good advice for the Democrats but it will not do for insurgent Republicans to ask for a similar pledge, for others besides themselves have a right to do a little in surging.

The Republican State ticket makes a positive appeal based on the solid merit of the men who go to make it up. The Republican candidates for State offices are active in the campaign. They are more than ordinary effective because they can go to the people direct, and state the party cause with force, sincerity, conviction and cogency. They come from among the people, every man. They are proved in efficiency, tried and true in devotion to the public good, and they have back of them a splendid record of Republican good management, achievement and honest service. The State candidates are fearless, frank, confident and industrious for the cause. It is a pleasure for Republican editors and for Republican workers to join with all their might for the election of such a ticket as the Republicans present to the voters this year.

EDITORIALETTES.

Shively in the extreme northern part of the State and Kern in the extreme southern part of the State, but who is going to fill up the gap.

If Hick's prediction for October is as near right as the September one was then this month will be a beauty.

Down at Evansville during Kern's speech a voter asked him about the bribery charges which he had made. He went right on, but another voter asked him to answer the question. Then the candidate for senator said "Ahem" and went right on.

One more "Big Wednesday" and then it is probable that the big bargain days, which have proven to be so popular, will be shelved for the winter.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace management will offer a good program tonight in the Vitagraph film, "Jean, the Matchmaker." The central figure in the story, Jean, is a dog who proves that her services are very valuable. Two working girls from the city, bent on a two weeks outing, pitch their tent in a woods with quiet surroundings. They are encountered by two bashful country boys, who do not have the nerve to call on the young women, but rather send their tokens of love by the faithful dog. The affair progresses until the girls sally forth to learn from whence the dog gets its supplies. The result of their trip into the woods and the climax is especially interesting. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The attraction at the Shubert Murat theater, Indianapolis, for three nights and Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday, October 6, will be Edward Sheldon's remarkable race problem play, "The Nigger," and it promises to be one of the most interesting dramatic events of the year. "The Nigger" is classed among the greatest of the famous new theater's successes. The Messrs. Shubert and William A. Brady, who have arranged a country-wide tour for the play this season, have secured for the leading role of Philip Morrow, around whom the plot centers, Guy Bates Post, who originated the character with the new theater company. Mr. Post's characterization is described as remarkable. The role of Georgiana Byrd, the young Southern girl to whom Morrow is engaged, and whose betrothal is broken by the discovery that he has negro blood in his veins, is played by Florence Rockwell, an actress of pronounced ability. The scenes in this play are dramatic in the extreme, and the play throughout is one to be remembered.

Manager Grand M. Carr of the Star Grand theater has made arrangements with Clarence T. Eward of Greensburg, a soloist and composer of note to sing some special numbers Thursday and Friday nights of this week. Mr. Eward comes highly recommended from his home city where he has appeared on numerous occasions. He has composed several songs which have found a ready sale and is also very able to sing his own compositions. The Greensburg Review says of a recital which Mr. Eward gave there recently: The occasion, the audience, and the purpose of the Eward recital at the K. of P. opera house Thursday night, culminated in an entertainment that was satisfactory to the patrons, complimentary to those who took part, and a mark of appreciation of Clarence T. Eward in the role of a musical composer, as well as that of a vocalist of more than usual merit and ability. The program had been constructed with an eye to success, and not a number was disappointing to the audience, who had gone with high expectations.

The Star Grand offers a Vitagraph subject tonight "The Sepoy's Wife," an inimitable life portrayal that bears the stamp of individuality in dramatic art. While it has a locally historical value, it is broad and general in its significance. Unusual? Very! It is a drama written on facts during the Sepoy war, 1859. A Sepoy, even more taciturn and moody than is naturally characteristic, hates the English rule and de-spises the Englishmen, whom he considers intruders and usurpers, not to mention a particular dislike for the surgeon. His spirit is rebellious, and he is ever ready to inflame his fellows against the foreigners, although he is a member of the Imperial regiment of the English government. This picture gets away from the hackneyed, and includes the go and stir that makes a great play. Earl Robertson will sing "When Mr. Yankee Doodle Comes to Town."

The Vaudeville will offer a double program this evening with a film and an extra attraction in the person of Les Miller, a blackface comedian. He has several new things for lovers of vaudeville, so it is said, and will put on a new act which has never been seen in this city. The Imp film, "The Call of the Circus," which will be shown tonight is said to be one of the best comedy-dramas which has been offered here recently. It is a tale of a sawdust ring, depicting some very dramatic incidents and again some very humorous ones in the life of a circus girl. The illustrated song "Honey, I Will Long For You" will be sung.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Who is there that has not seen the old trick of the pocketbook with the string attached, on April fool's day? Well, this didn't happen on the first of April, but yesterday, and the pocketbook didn't happen to have any string to it either, but nevertheless County Treasurer Alvan Moor was just the least bit suspicious as he "spied" a small purse lying on the sidewalk. At first he had a notion to pass it up, but on second thought picked it up quickly, you know as if he had found a cold million and wanted to make a get-away without anyone seeing him. As he walked down the street he had many pleasant visions of all he would buy with this money. Mr. Moor, at the first opportunity, took just one little peep in the purse and discovered it contained just one slick five-cent piece.

Moral: "Too much money" is unhandy anyway.

Why we handle The FAVORITE

Being a Story of How we Were Convinced

First, we were attracted by the handsome appearance of the Favorite, but we did not decide to handle it for this reason alone, although we decided it was the most handsome base burner on the market.

We wanted a better reason than an attractive looking stove, so we looked it over thoroughly, comparing it point by point with other base burners, and this is what we found:

That the material from which it is made is all of the highest grades—the doors, mica frames and joints being absolutely air and paper tight. We were told the Favorite produced the most satisfactory results with about half as much coal as other base burners. We discovered this to be true. We found the reason to be in its Triple Exposed Flues.

The sectional cut herewith explains these flues better than we can in words. The heat passes from the fire pot into the two outside down flues, across the bottom of the stove, under the ash pan, where it enters the central flue. It then passes back over the bottom and up the central flue to the chimney. Just think of this great radiating surface, and it is more than doubled, because the flues are SET OUT from the back of the stove. The flues therefore radiate from all sides, and the back of the stove radiates heat, also. This feature alone places the Favorite in a class by itself, making it the best and most economical heating stove in existence. But other features of its construction must not be overlooked. Would like to tell you all about them.

Do not put off buying your heating stove until the cold days come. Come and see us now, and our Favorite will be your Favorite too.

CHAPTER VII. THE COLD WORLD.

VAL had meant when his unpacking was done to dress and lunch in the restaurant whose fame had reached even the dining room of the Guards' club. Now he did not want to look at his fellow beings or be looked at, and he pressed his electric bell viciously to order luncheon up.

It came presently and would have been delicious to a man without a grievance, but Loveland's grievance was so gigantic that it crowded out his appetite. Useless to waste money in cabling instructions for Foxham's arrest, he reflected. The wretch who had planned everything so well would long ago have taken himself out of harm's way.

No, Loveland decided, he need not hope to punish Foxham. His time might be better employed in planning the reconstruction of his own wardrobe.

A man, even a marquis, can live without tie pins or a change of shirt studs, but he cannot live without such clothes as society expects of him. Loveland thought with almost passionate regret of his tailor's achievements, lost to him forever, and with anxiety of the difficult matter it would be to replace them.

The hundred and fifty pounds represented by his letter of credit could not be spared for American tailors and bootmakers. That went without saying. These persons would have to trust him. But were American tailors and bootmakers of a trusting nature? Loveland had somehow got the im-

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits The Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent. better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." For sale by F. B. Johnson.

You Will Be Proud of the appearance of your stove IF YOU USE Black Silk Stove Polish

It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine. Don't imagine all brands of stove polish are alike. Black Silk is different. It's so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It's in a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant, glossy shine that anneals to the iron—don't rub or dust off. Give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove—your cook stove or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I have ever used. People say, 'where did you get your new stove,' and I tell them it's Black Silk Stove Polish that makes it look like new."

"I will not use any other kind when I can get Black Silk Stove Polish. It makes stoves look nice and stay nice longer than any other polish."

"Black Silk Stove Polish is by far the best I ever used. I have tried many different kinds but find none as good."

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I ever used. Several parties in this neighborhood are anxious to get some of your polish since they saw my hardware after using it."

pression that they were not and that even if you were a duke—much less a marquis—and flaunted a copy of Burke under their noses they would still want some native millionaire to guarantee them against loss.

Cadwallader Hunter was not a millionaire (this was the one damaging statement he had voluntarily made against himself, but he knew millionaires and was known by them, and with a pang of selfish regret, even sharper than his first remorse, Loveland repented his wastefulness in throwing away such a friend. If he had not slammed the door almost upon Cadwallader Hunter's high, thin nose he might now have summoned him by telephone and have got him to trot about introducing the Marquis of Loveland to the best tailors in New York. The only thing for Val to do was to wait until he had collected other friends more solid, more valuable than Cadwallader Hunter and as soon as possible tell the tale of his misfortunes. Of course everybody would be delighted to help Lord Loveland, and, by the way, there was Mr. Coolidge, who could be approached if worst came to worst.

When he had been cheered by luncheon and soothed by cigarettes he sent for a motor taxicab. The afternoon was still young and so full of sparkle and gaiety that life seemed worth living after all; therefore Lord Loveland had begun to value himself almost as highly as ever by the time his smart little automobile pulled up in front of the bank.

It was a stately bank, well worthy of its London connection, and he handed in his visiting card and letter of credit with the air of one entitled to receive unlimited sums. The cashier, however, having looked at him, the card and the letter, did not appear to be impressed. Instead of replying in words to Loveland's demand for £20, he walked away with the letter of credit in his hand and vanished behind a swing door. After a short delay the cashier returned and, having strolled back to his place behind the grating, there stood silent for a moment.

"I'm rather in a hurry," said Loveland. "I suppose there'll be no red tape about my getting £20? I want it this afternoon."

The cashier smiled a dry smile, and his voice sounded dry as he answered. "I don't know about the red tape, but I'm sorry to tell you we have no instructions from London to pay."

"What?" cried Val, reddening with annoyance. "You have no instructions?"

"No instructions to pay," repeated the cashier, putting on the last word an emphasis which sounded offensive to Loveland's ears, though he hastily assured himself that it could not possibly have any such meaning.

"This is very inconvenient," said Val, to whom bridge and tips on shipboard had left exactly seventeen shillings three pence halfpenny.

"I'm sorry for that," remarked the cashier, still more formally, more unsympathetically and—one might almost have said—more disrespectfully than before.

Loveland, though inclined to storm, reflected a moment. He had intended to sail on the Baltic, which was due to leave English shores only yesterday and might not arrive in New York for seven or eight days. He had not given any one notice—not even his mother—that he had changed his intention, and very likely the London papers had paragraphed him as a passenger on the Baltic's next trip. Nevertheless he could not quite understand how that fact excused his London bank's delay in instructing their New York correspondents. They had had plenty of time to arrange his affairs before his sudden departure on the Mauretania, and by not doing so they were likely to make him a great deal of unnecessary trouble.

"Well, I don't see why I should be made to suffer because the London and Southern bank puts off till tomorrow what it ought to have done a week ago," said Loveland, beginning to be arrogant, though looking boyish, with his flushed face and his white scar glimmering on its background of clear, ruddy brown. "I must have some money, you know."

The cashier did not reply to this challenge, and his eyes expressed no interested consideration of the matter.

"You had better see your manager and explain the circumstances," pursued Val.

"It would be useless. We could not pay without instructions."

"I dare say I might manage with £10 till you could get an answer, if you choose to be so ridiculously overcautious," Loveland insisted loftily. "But in that case you must cable at once."

"You will no doubt be willing to pay for the message in advance?" suggested the cashier.

"Certainly not," said Val, no longer trying to keep his temper under control. "You've seen my card. Isn't that enough for you?"

"Business is business," quoted the bank employee, still unruffled, still blind to Lord Loveland's importance, cold to his necessities.

"And decency's decency," stormed Val, careless now who looked or listened and in a mood to wreck all American institutions.

"Yes, it's as well never to forget that," the cashier hinted significantly. "Sorry we cannot accommodate you at present."

"I'm hanged if you ever get the chance again," retorted Val, snatching his letter of credit from the counter "I shall myself send a cable to the London and Southern which will make you repent your pigheadedness." And with this ultimatum he strode to the door as if on the way to sign a death warrant.

"Beastly America! Beastly Americans!" he muttered. "I suppose this is their way of resenting the existence of aristocracy."

Trying to forget the first snub man had ever dared to deal him, he dashed here and there in his motor cab, making a house to house distribution of Jim's envelopes and his own visiting cards, according to home custom when armed with letters of introduction.

The sky flamed with sunset banners—Spanish colors—long before he had finished his round and was ready to return to the Waldorf. There his idea of a suitable present to the chauffeur left him with the American equivalent of eight or nine shillings in his pocket. But, as he had expected, the hotel paid for his afternoon's motoring. So cheerfully did it pay that he sent off an unnecessarily long and extremely frank cablegram to his London bankers which they ought to receive on opening their doors next morning. He thought that it would rather wake them up and that in consequence of their response to New York—certain to flash immediately along the wires—he would receive an apology from the rude wretch who had insulted him that afternoon. But nothing would induce him to forget or forgive. He had informed the London bankers that his business must be diverted into another channel, which they were invited to suggest.

When Loveland found himself alone again in his luxurious suit of rooms with the November night coming on and no amusement on hand he half wished once more that he had not been so cautious in the matter of accepting invitations. After all, it would not have compromised his future if he had gone to dine with the Coolidges or Spanish eyed, flirtatious Mrs. Milton and her gentle little daughter Fanny. The next best thing to dining with friends would be to watch the coming and going of gay New York in the restaurant.

He dressed and went down about 8, therefore, looking forward to the novelty of the unknown.

It was a brilliant scene into the midst of which Loveland had plunged. Society begins to dine earlier in New York than in London; therefore at 8 o'clock dinner was in full swing. There was scarcely an empty table, and many of the women being in hats and semi-evening dress, the red and gold restaurant suggested to the newcomer a living picture of Paris.

He had had the forethought to telephone down and order a table to be kept for him, and on informing an interrogative waiter that he was Lord Loveland he learned that his place would be found at the far end of the room.

It looked a very far end, indeed, gazing across an intervening sea of flower like hats, charming faces and jeweled necks that glimmered white under film of lace and tulle, but Loveland was not shy. He rather enjoyed his progress, winding on and on along narrow paths between rose burdened tables, with lovely eyes lifting to his as he passed by. He wondered if any pair of those eyes was destined to look down his own table at Loveland castle some day. Well, they should be beautiful eyes to deserve the honor. The thought slipped vaguely through his head, and then his own eyes brightened with the light of recognition.

There, at a large table decorated with white and purple violets, sat Elinor Coolidge, her father, Mrs. Milton and Fanny and two men whom Loveland had never seen before. Standing and bending slightly down to talk in a confidential tone with one of these men was Major Cadwallader Hunter.

His back was turned toward Loveland, who recognized him instantly, however, by the set of his high military shoulders and the bald spot on his head which Lesley Deamer had likened to the shape of Italy on the map. He seemed to listen with deep interest to what one of the seated men was saying and then to chime in eagerly with some addition of his own. Suddenly Loveland caught Fanny Milton's eye. She started and blushed scarlet. The slight involuntary movement she made drew Miss Coolidge's attention, and Elinor, seeing the direction in which Fanny's eyes were turned, sent a glance that way.

Loveland, within bowing distance now, met the glance and returned it, smiling. He was annoyed that Cadwallader Hunter should be with the party, even though evidently not of it. Yet, after all, he said to himself, perhaps it was as well. He did not mean to apologize to Cadwallader Hunter, for he thought his own rudeness more or less justified by the liberty the other had taken, but he had already made up his mind that the next time he met the man he would act as if nothing disagreeable had happened. As to Cadwallader Hunter's readiness to snatch at the olive branch, Loveland had not the slightest doubt of it. He thought he had only to hold out a hand for the major to kiss it, groveling.

Elinor Coolidge did not blush at the sight of Lord Loveland as Fanny Milton did, but her beautiful face changed curiously. Its cameo clear lines hardened, her lips were pressed together, and her large eyes narrowed, gleaming like topazes between their dark lashes, as the lights from the shaded candles on the table lighted sparks in their yellow-brown depths.

The thought flashed into Loveland's head that the quick change in her face meant jealousy of Fanny Milton. He had noticed more than once on shipboard that she had seemed jealous of Fanny, and now that deep blush of the younger girl's at sight of him had probably vexed her.

"How do you do?" he asked, pausing at the table.

Instead of answering or putting out her hand to him, as he expected, Elinor almost convulsively grasped the sticks of a delicate little fan which lay beside her plate. She shot a topaz glance at one of the two new men, then let her eyes under raised brows seek and hold her father's.

Lord Loveland was at once surprised and puzzled by this extraordinary reception. "Can Cadwallader Hunter have told them all some lie to set them against me?" he asked himself.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

UNIQUE POINT TO BE SETTLED

Rival Wireless Companies Fight
For Control of Air.

WHO OWNS THE AIR, ANYWAY?

This is the Point That Will Be Fought Right on Into the United States Supreme Court, Rival Wireless Companies Giving Service on the Great Lakes Having Engaged in Bitter Struggle.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The legal questions involved in the use of the air by rival wireless telegraph companies were brought up in the city court here and speedily taken to the special term of the state supreme court. The lawyers concerned say they will fight right through to the United States supreme court.

There are two wireless companies on the great lakes. One has the passenger boat service, the other has stations at various points on the lakes,
the Buffalo office being on the beach
here.

A fortnight or so ago a Detroit boat bound down blew out a cylinder head off Long Point, but was unable to signal Buffalo because her operator and the Buffalo operator allege the rival operator would strike in with a meaningless stream of dashes whenever the boat sought to send a message.

A warrant was sworn out for the operator, violation of the law forbidding interference with telegraph business being alleged, but the prisoner's counsel swore out a writ of habeas corpus and took the case to the supreme court, desiring a test decision.
One operator swore that his orders were to interfere with all messages of the rival company, which would include distress messages calling for help in danger. He described automatic devices which were used to send out a stream of dashes to occupy the ether when the operators were not in their offices.

PUNISHMENT PROMISED

West Point Cadets Anxiously Await Official Report.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The cadets of the academy have been restored to all privileges after having been denied every privilege for a week
since their trouble with Captain Longan in the mess hall.

General Thomas Barry, superintendent of the academy, said as yet he knew nothing of the case other than that which he had read in the papers.
That there would be punishments for those whom the board of inquiry report implicated could be assured, but that would come later after due consideration of the findings. While all are given the privileges there are many who will be uneasy until the full result of the investigation is known and the punishments awarded. It is almost certain there will be no dismissals.

CHINA'S HOPE

Forecasted in the Meeting of the First Imperial Assembly.

Pekin, Oct. 4.—The imperial assembly, or senate, the creation of which was officially decreed May 9 of this year, was formally opened yesterday by the prince regent in person. In addressing the body he described it as an emblem of the hope which is felt for China—a great future. It plainly showed, he added, that the empire was following in the steps of the world's progress. He said that there was a need for improved conditions, and he invited the earnest cooperation of all classes.

Natives Were Terrified.

Johannesburg, Oct. 4.—The people of this city were startled last evening
by the appearance of a huge meteor which seemed to be about the size of the full moon and which illuminated the sky for fully three minutes. The meteor was fully equal to that of a naval searchlight at a distance of not more than fifty yards. Astronomers at the local observatory who watched the phenomenon were nearly blinded.
The natives were terrified, believing that the end of the world had come.

TOOK THE LAW IN OWN HANDS

Moore Says Victim Interfered With Domestic Relations.

TRAGEDY AT VINCENNES DEPOT

C. Edward Gibson, Millionaire Oil Operator, and Married, Was Slain by Menlo Moore, Theater Manager, For Alleged Attentions Gibson Had Paid
Moore's Wife—Affair Has Created a Sensation.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 4.—C. Edward Gibson, millionaire oil field operator of this city, was shot five times and instantly killed at the union station here. Menlo Moore, owner of three theaters in Vincennes, and of a theater circuit in Indiana, was arrested at Washington, Ind., a few hours later, charged with the crime. Moore declared Gibson had interfered in his domestic relations. Gibson was on his way to the Bridgeport oil fields, where he had large holdings, and was about to board a train when the shooting occurred. The police say the shots were fired from behind.

Moore was on his way to the home of his father-in-law, Arnold Pagett, a well-known lawyer at Washington, when arrested. His wife is a noted beauty and a member of one of the prominent families in the state.
Moore is well connected, having been reared at Mitchell, where he has relatives. Gibson's death closed a romantic career. Gibson came to Vincennes from Pittsburg a few years ago pen-niless. He discovered the Bridgeport oil fields near here and became a millionaire in a short time. He was noted as a spender. He leaves a wife and child. Gossip for some time had connected the names of Moore and Gibson.
Moore first heard of the talk connecting his wife's name with that of Gibson a week ago, and his friends say he had brooded over the matter until almost crazy.

BIDDLE ARRESTED

Alleged Wife Murderer Now in Jail at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 4.—Charles Biddle, formerly of this city, charged with having brutally murdered his wife by shooting off her head with a shotgun while she was sleeping, then settling fire to the bedchamber at the home of her uncle, Louis Koehler, at Peppertown, Ind., was captured at Brookston and is now in jail in this city.

He denies that he is guilty of the murder, saying that he was awakened in the night by two shots fired into the room in which he and his wife were sleeping, and that, in terror, he ran from the house and caught a train.
He says that he did not know his wife had been killed until he read of her murder in the papers. He came from Indianapolis to Lafayette and from here went to Brookston.

A YARD WRECK

A Hundred Passengers Imperiled by Crash at Laporte.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 4.—The Lake
Erie excursion train from Indianapolis was wrecked in the Laporte yards, the lives of more than 100 passengers being imperiled when the train crashed into a cut of freight cars which a Lake Shore engine was backing down the main line of the Lake Erie. Twenty persons were more or less injured, six of them seriously. The passengers, who occupied two coaches, were thrown around in the seats when the train stopped suddenly, and were badly bruised or shaken up. The coaches did not leave the tracks.

Johnny Evers Laid Up.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Johnny Evers, the famous second baseman of the Cubs, injured when sliding to the home plate
in the Cubs-Cincinnati game, was more seriously injured than at first reported.
Evers broke three bones in his right leg instead of one. He will be unable to play in the world's series, and his whole future career as a baseball player may be affected by the painful accident that has befallen him.

May Change Race Course.

Indianapolis, Oct. 4.—The Indianapolis motor speedway officials are after the grand prize automobile race that is scheduled to run on the Long Island course on Oct. 15, believing that the mana casualties that occurred there last week will lead to a change of place for the race.

Child Died of Hydrophobia.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 4.—Emma Evans, the four-year-old daughter of Newton Evans, is dead of hydrophobia.
The child was bitten by a small dog three weeks ago, but the wound was not thought to be serious and physicians were not called until several days ago.

Fatal Locomotive Explosion.

Powertown, Ind., Oct. 4.—The firebox of an engine attached to a C. & O. freight exploded here while Charles Oliver, fireman, was opening it. He was fatally injured. Conductor Smith was hurled into a barbed wire fence alongside the track, but not badly hurt.

this season of the year, since a period of bad weather might be expected at any time. The carnival could not be held in the Davis barn before the first week in November. The carnival question was merely postponed and the opinion of the meeting was that the proposition would be taken up again next spring, when it will probably be made a success.

It was moved, seconded and unanimously carried to dispense with the regular meeting of the association Thursday night, due to the fact that so many sessions had been held recently. The next regular meeting will be held the third Thursday of this month, October 20.

JONES FAILS TO WIN

Local Reinsman Does Not Get in the Money at Springfield.

Harrie Jones, who has his stable of fast horses at Springfield this week, was not as successful in his first race yesterday as he has been all during this season as he failed to finish in the money with Joe Lederer in the 2:29 pace. He took eighth, seventh and fifth positions in the three heats, respectively. It will be remembered that he won a race with the same horse at the State fair. The local reinsman has several entries in Springfield this week.

WAS LIKEWISE DUNNED.

A newspaper subscriber recently received a statement or dun through the postoffice and it made him mad. He went to see the newspaper man about it, and the latter showed him a few duns of his own—one for the paper, one for press work, one for ink and a number of others.

"Now," said the newspaper man, "I didn't get mad when these came, because I knew that all I had to do was to ask several reliable gentlemen like you to come and help me out and then I could settle them."

When the subscriber saw how it was he changed his mind, paid up and renewed his subscription for another year.

REPORT SHOWS LIBRARY THRIVES

Five Hundred And Seventy-Eight Books Have Been Loaned During Month Just Closed.

NEW WORKS WERE DONATED

The report, which is submitted by the librarian of the free public library in the court house, is conclusive evidence that the plan has been a decided success and is meeting with public approval. The report shows that the library has been liberally patronized and has also been remembered by many substantial donations during the month.

The report from the librarian, Miss Sleeth, shows that three hundred and ninety-six books have been loaned to adults and one hundred and eighty-two to juveniles during the month of September, which makes a total of five hundred and seventy-eight books or a daily average of twenty-two and two-tenths books. Forty books have been donated to the library during the month. The volumes borrowed from the State library commission have been returned and a new lot has been procured which includes a number of books that will be a benefit in the public school work, especially the American History and English Literature.

Young Man Caught in Knightstown Will Plead Guilty.

John Highmiller, the Fall Creek township young man who was arrested some weeks ago for the theft of a neighbor's horse, being caught at Knightstown, will in all probability plead guilty to the charge and accept a sentence of 2 to 14 years in the State reformatory, as there seems no loophole for him to escape, says the New Castle Times. Monday morning Highmiller was in court ready to enter a plea, when it was discovered that for some reason or other there was no charge against him. A warrant was drawn and formally served and Highmiller was taken back to jail for another appearance.
